SEAG

SEAG, the Southeast Asia Germany Alumni Network, takes pleasure in announcing its 3rd International Symposium-cum-Workshop in Southeast Asia 2002.

Date: 14 - 18 October 2002

Topic: “From a Transitional to an Industrialized Society: The Role of Dialogue and Networking”

Venue: Vietnamese-German-Center
c/o Technical University of Hanoi, Vietnam

The topic of the Symposium-cum-Workshop provides a general framework to achieve an interdisciplinary and problem-oriented scientific approach thus encouraging intensive interaction between the participants as well as supporting an integration and participation of different disciplines.

Transforming society and economy is an issue relevant to all sciences and disciplines, especially in terms of new incentives, dialogue, networking and sustainability. Changes from plan to market or even far-reaching market liberalization involve all sectors and deeply affect the existing social fabric and established political structures. Shaping a market-oriented legal and regulatory framework, opening up (agricultural and forestry) markets, the emergence of a civil society claiming participation, an accelerated pace of innovation, the new challenges for (rural) entrepreneurship as well as for knowledge generation and R&D - this is to characterize but some milestones and challenges lying ahead during this process. The seminar will analyze and discuss the necessary changes for the well-being of industrializing societies by underlining the crucial role of dialogue and networking.

The following specific thematic areas are envisaged for our third Symposium-cum-Workshop:

- Transforming political institutions and the role of participation and governance in an emerging civil society
- Sustainable resource management: market-led incentives, new constraints and perspectives
  - * forestry, agro-forestry systems
  - * plant production, irrigated agriculture
  - * livestock production systems
- Emerging markets, (rural) industrialization, innovation and sustainability in an opening economy
- From Plan to Market: Knowledge Generation and Transfer, Research and Training

The exact scientific groups will be introduced after the review of submitted abstracts by a review panel.

Language(s) of the conference: English (German, if desired)

Symposium Proceedings: A high standard of contributions and presentations is desired. Potential participants are, therefore, invited to submit good quality papers to the Organizing Committee Germany (via the online submission form available on the website <http://submission.seag-network.de>) for consideration by a review panel. Initial screening will be based on the quality of submitted abstracts. A committee of peers will review the abstracts and only high quality abstracts will be accepted for elaboration as full papers and for presentation during the Scientific Sessions. All presentations will be oral. Accepted papers will be reviewed and edited by an editorial committee and published in Proceedings. Only participants with accepted papers will be sponsored to attend the conference.

Alumni-Networking: In addition to the purely scientific/academic objectives, it is the declared aim of this Symposium-cum-Workshop to help participants establish and maintain an alumni network at local and regional level in order to achieve an intensive communication between all involved institutions and individuals beyond the scientific exchange of information.

Call for Papers and Calendar

Please submit your abstracts to the SEAG Organizing Committee (via the online submission possibility at <http://submission.seag-network.de>) following the strict deadlines given below:

August 15th, 2002

Receipt of abstracts (between 250 and 350 words) containing the basic elements of the full paper (rationale, objectives, methods, results and conclusions).

August 31st, 2002

Based on the submitted abstract, a notice of provisional acceptance of the contribution is sent to the respective authors.

September 30th, 2002

Final manuscript of the full paper due at Organizing Committee.

Submit your abstract online:

<http://submission.seag-network.de>

Guidelines to authors will be distributed together with the notice of acceptance of abstracts.

Guidelines for the preparation of oral and poster presentations will be provided along with final full paper acceptance.

Sponsorship: Funding in order to sponsor participants from the region is very limited. Support provided through DAAD to attend will depend entirely and solely on the acceptance of the full paper by the Organizing Committee. Independently sponsored participants are very welcome, too, but their inclusion in the program will also depend on acceptance of their full papers by the Organizing Committee.
